POWERFUL WOMEN WE ADMIRE

HOW DO YOU DRAW POWER FROM YOUR PASSION?

I am passionate about my work at Yoga Journal because I bring the vision of my magazine to life through a national tour of live events. Five or more times a year, I create events where yoga enthusiasts immerse themselves in all things yoga, from asana to meditation to music, bringing like-minded people together creates an incredible kind of energy in my own way. I feel I am helping change the world for the better—one person at a time.

Nothing is more beautiful to me than watching a woman connect with her inner visionary and begin the process of discovering how her unique gifts can genuinely make a difference in the world. True power lies at the cross-section where passion, purpose, and intent meet. It is from this position of grace and conviction that a woman's humanity can part seas, move mountains, and bridge divides.

2 To me, power is all about perspective. I don't experience equality, which means I don't understand who I am, my strength, or my weakness. What makes me feel lifted, or what makes me feel like I'm falling? I'm using the knowledge as my "life raft" and I'm not sure that I'll ever be able to let go of it. I'm not sure that I'll ever be able to let go of it.

...self. I experience peace and joy when I am in my home and I have constructed my life to be in my home and get into my home. I have a delicate balance between my home and the outside world.
